

Learning English through Skit

October 25th, 2018

Kohoku Sakura JHS got the second prize at Adachi English entertainment event in October. Fourteen students from our school acted “What’s improvised interaction?” at Gyaraku City Hall in Nishiarai. Actually, all the first grade students joined this skit in their English class. After that, they had the performance test on the script, then ten students were selected as actors and actresses. Four more students joined from the third grade, too. It was difficult to speak out English but they trained again and again. And they did it! The skit showed how difficult it is to response immediately in English. It also showed how we can practice for these kind of “improvised interaction” humorously.

Teddy bear talks

Which is John??

Weird immigration

